

Become a member of our Historic Club

Dear friends,
As most of you are aware I have been a board member of Hellenic Club for over 12 months, I am writing to you to request that you become members of this historic club.

I know most of you might say what for? It has nothing to offer us & has not been active in the Greek community for a long time & it's perceived as a private gentleman's club,

I will not argue that but the current board & previous board directors have endlessly tried there best to redevelop or relocate with no success to date.

Unfortunately because they needed 75% of the votes from the members to move forward & as there is only approximately 500 members with the majority over 60+ it is difficult to effect change.

So ladies & gents in summary we can all do nothing & nothing will ever change (not our problem approach) or become a member & make a difference in designing the future landscape for our children to be proud of their heritage.

The board is committed in creating a sustainable model that caters to the wider Greek & Australian community, culturally & commercially viable future.

Currently we have commenced remedial works to our Castleragh street property opposite Laki bank & Greek Consulate with plans to relocate on the ground floor. With over 500 sqm we can create a taverna, bar, cafi, outdoor seating, gaming & entertainment & events space.

The 1st floor could cater for the Kafenion / gambling with 5 private rooms to cater for higher stakes as well hosting our Texas Tavli nights

Please fill out the membership form & credit card details FAX to me on 80807001 so I can second & sign

2009 Conference Looking Healthy

The 2009 Australian Vegetable Industry Conference, 'Growing a Healthy Australia', is gearing up for great success.

Proudly brought to you by AUSVEG along with Horticulture Australia Ltd (HAL), Onions Australia and the Australian Potato Processing Association, the 2009 conference will be a landmark event on the industry's calendar. 2009 sponsorship sales show no symptoms of the global economic crisis, at this stage of planning sales are well ahead of previous years.

We are pleased to announce the following sponsors to date:

Platinum - Bayer CropScience

Gold - Landmark, Vin Rowe Farm Machinery, BASF Australia and Withcott Seedlings

Silver - DOW AgroSciences, Terranova Seeds, Bejo Seeds, Du Pont Australia and

Syngenta Crop Protection
Bronze - South Pacific Seeds, Crop Care, Wyma Engineering, Spraygro Liquid Fertilizers and Dobmac Agricultural Machinery

Trade Exhibitor sponsors (in addition to the abovementioned sponsors) - Processed Potato IAC (APRP), Agsafe, Measurement Engineering Australia, National Harvest Labour Information Service, Seminis Vegetable Seeds and Barmac Industries Pty Ltd, and Melbourne Wholesale Fruit, Vegetable and Flower Market

While sponsorship opportunities are still available for the conference, all sponsorship packages have been sold for the 2009 Australian Vegetable Industry Awards!
AUSVEG is extremely pleased with the progress of the upcoming conference and awards.

"We are looking forward to hosting a highly informative and engaging industry conference which will provide opportunities for growers, researchers, supply chain representatives and service providers to unite and gain valuable knowledge," said Robert Lawler, CEO AUSVEG.

The conference will feature renowned international keynote speakers including Professor David Hughes, Emeritus Professor of Food Marketing at London's Imperial College; and Jin Ju Wilder, President of a leading Los Angeles-based produce company and Retail tion for fresh produce.

Coles' Peter Pokorny, General Manager of Fresh Produce, will speak from a local perspective, which will be a highlight for growers at the conference. John Brent, Interim Chairman, AUSVEG, said the conference will be a forum for delegates to learn about the latest technological advancements and R&D projects, and look ahead to the future of the Australian vegetable industry.

"The conference will be a great opportunity for growers across all commodity sectors to meet the newly appointed AUSVEG Board and share ideas about how to best to secure the health of our industry," John said.

The conference will be held from 4-6 May 2009 at the Melbourne Convention Centre with the Australian Vegetable Industry Awards to be held at Crown Palladium on Wednesday 6 May.

Online registration is now open and registration brochures have been distributed with the January edition of the Vegetables Australia magazine and will be distributed with the February edition of Potatoes Australia.
