

Memories that will last forever...

A couple of months ago, I was given a 2009 calendar with truly magnificent photos of Greece. I later found out that these photos were taken by Ian McEwan-Hall, an Englishman/Australian permanent resident living in Singapore, during his trip to Greece last year. Mr McEwan-Hall shares his experiences from this trip and talks of his memories...

My trip commenced /ended in Athens. I spent 10 hours wandering around Athens en route Santorini/Ioannini. This was unscheduled due to "Olympic Airways".

I rented a car for Crete, the Zagorohoria and Peloponnese.

Crete was hot, in the Zagorohoria it snowed. What a contrast!!!

Apart from Santorini, the Zagorohoria and Naphlio I stayed in B&Bs.

My favourite places? They were all nice but I'd choose Western Crete and the Zagorohoria. Western Crete for its landscape and the villages I stayed in, The Zagorohoria because my Hotel was made of solid stone and was so cosy. I also experienced Greek Easter whilst there, which was simply magical.

Santorini must have a mention. It's so different but I felt 2 days were enough; nevertheless the memories will last forever.

What else do I remember? Crete wild flowers, Orange groves and the smell of the blossom. A very old taverna/bar in Krista where, which side of the room you sit is determined by your political views. Lilac blossom around Ioannini. Greek honey. The friendliness of the people throughout the country".

I would truly like to thank Mr McEwan-Hall for sharing his memories with us. His pictures show that he sees the 'details' of life which we tend to ignore or pass by without noticing. I chose some of the photos from the calendar which I personally liked very much and would like to share with our readers.

Photos that capture everyday objects that mark the many passages in our lives.

Happiness lies in the little things. Many of the happiest moments in life are very brief and often soon forgotten... Mr McEwan-Hall made sure that these moments will last forever.
