Australian Greek side set to tour Greece

Fifteen lucky Australian-Greek footballers are set to embark on an exciting journey as they prepare for their highly anticipated ‘Soccer Central Greece Tour’ set for 14 days taking on some high profile Greek Under 21 clubs.

Set to depart on the 29th of November, the team coached by former Australian youth international Nick Stavroulakis and former Sydney Olympic player Peter Zorbas handpicked a group of highly talented players to tour Greece in late November and early December.

Stavroulakis was delighted with the young team’s progress which has seen them go through a gruelling pre-season schedule preparing this squad for this tour.

“We’ve taken the boys through their paces and have played a couple of friendly matches (Sydney FC Under 20’s and a select Premier and Youth League side) as well as training them a couple of times a week in preparing them for this Greek tour and all have done very well.

“In regards to the selection process we went to a couple of matches these young boys were playing in the Premier, Super and Division 1 Youth League competitions this year and took it from there.

“It is certainly an exciting tour for all these boys involved as not only will they be playing against quality opposition, but they will also get a first-hand look on European football and living abroad as well.

“This also gives these young boys a chance to strut their stuff in front of some big teams as well as being watched by many scouts eager to recruit rich Australian talent.”

The squad of players who are all under the ages of 21 will be taking on under 21 outfits from Olympiacos, AEK Athens, Panathinaikos, Panionios and Atromitos.

The team itself is rich full of rising stars playing in the very competitive NSW Premier, Super and Division 1 youth competitions.

Zorbas was also excited with this up and coming tour and explained the objectives behind it.

“These boys all have an ambition to hopefully play in Europe one day and be part of a professional set-up and this tour will give them an insight on this.

“Taking on some of Greece’s best young teams and players will only further their development as and will hopefully motivate them to move towards the next level as footballers.”

The lucky squad will also have the privilege in meeting former and current players from some of Greece’s biggest clubs and have also been invited as special guests to watch the Europa League match featuring Timmy Cahill’s Everton tackling AEK Athens at the Olympic Stadium as part of the tour schedule.

Basing themselves in Glyfada, Athens, Tour Organiser Arthur Diles alongside Stavroulakis and Zorbas have been working overtime in making sure everything has been put in place in assuring this will be a tour not to be forgotten for the lucky players involved.
