

Greek Movie Night

The Sun Goes Down And The Screen Lights Up - Moonlight Cinema @ Gough Whitlam Park

The Mayor of the City of Canterbury, Cr Robert Furolo MP, is encouraging Greek-speaking residents to round up some friends, pack a picnic and a rug and venture out to Gough Whitlam Park on Tuesday 5 April to enjoy a fantastic FREE open-air cinema experience.

"There is something special about watching a movie under the stars, it's a fantastic experience and the perfect opportunity to soak up the last rays of sunshine," Mayor Robert Furolo said. "On a beautiful autumn night, Gough Whitlam Park will be transformed into the ultimate openair cinema experience as we host The Greek Festival Moonlight Cinema on Tuesday 5 April.

"Our Greek community is in for an absolute treat - in conjunction with the Greek Festival of Sydney, we'll be screening one of the most successful movies to come out of Greece in recent times, the box-office hit Nissos.

"Nissos is a story of an island which holds a lot of secrets including scandalous affairs, unsolved crimes, hidden double lives and takes place in one of the most breath-taking Greek Islands, Sifnos.

"It's the perfect opportunity to gather the family and a group of friends, grab a picnic basket full of delicious food, then kick back as the sun goes down and the screen lights up. "If the thought of preparing your own picnic leaves you cold, don't despair, we've made it the Moonlight Cinema experience completely effortless.

"Our stalls will have your mouth watering as the aroma of sizzling souvlakia, BBQ corn, fresh coffee, cinnamon coated honey puffs and tasty popcorn, waft through the air. "It doesn't get any better than this, and I encourage the Greek Community to watch Nissos under the stars with family and friends in the beautiful natural surrounds of Gough Whitlam Park.

"It's absolutely free, the movie is outstanding and you just can't beat seeing a good movie under the stars," Mayor Robert Furolo said.
