Time to show our pride and put rubbish away for good

The Lord Mayor of Parramatta, Cr John Chedid, is calling on residents, community groups and businesses to come along to Community Pride Day on Saturday 9 April at Rosella Park, Harris Park, from 8.45am – 12pm to celebrate their pride in our City and help put rubbish away for good.

Community Pride Day was initiated by Cr Chedid to offer residents an opportunity to learn about how they can work together to prevent illegal dumping, while having fun at a community event.

Volunteers will be guided by Council staff through dumping hot-spots throughout the City. Following the clean up, volunteers will enjoy live entertainment and family fun including face painting and an animal petting zoo and learn more about Council's waste collection services.

Attendees will also be able to participate in or watch a backyard cricket match hosted by Sanjiv Dubey, President of the New Australian Sports Association.

"Community Pride Day is about residents coming together to celebrate our City and spread an important message that residents in Parramatta won't tolerate our City being dumped on," said Cr Chedid.

"It has been more than a year since Council commenced its clean up campaign. In the past six months alone, Council has saved nearly $100,000 in tipping fees as more residents understand the importance of proper waste management.

"Illegal dumping costs the community in excess of $800,000 a year and it is vital that we continue to educate our local residents and businesses on how to deal with the matter," he said.

"It's illegal to dump rubbish in community areas such as streets, nature strips, footpath, reserves, parks, car parks and waterways," Cr Chedid warned. "Illegal dumping can incur fines from $750 up to $250,000.

"It's a health hazard and has a huge negative impact on the environment, not to mention making our City look messy.

"Community Pride Day is just one example of Council's ongoing commitment to the cleanliness of its City and provides an opportunity to educate people about clean-city living and illegal dumping hot-spots.

"I encourage residents to come along to Community Pride Day to enjoy a fun day out with the community and find out about the correct disposal of rubbish," said Cr Chedid. To help spread the illegal dumping message even further, Laith Jamal, the 12 year old Parramatta resident renowned as the City's 'Clean-up Crusader', will be addressing the crowd with his views on keeping our City clean.

"We, the children of Parramatta, have a job to educate all our parents about illegal dumping so that they are good role models," said Laith. "We all have a right to be lift our head up with pride about our neighbourhood, not look down at the dumping."

As a thank you to those who participate in Community Pride Day, a free barbeque lunch will be on offer and volunteers will receive a free pack with free sporting tickets, vouchers and goodies.

Profession Calls for Stronger Crack Down

The Migration Institute of Australia (MIA) has called for the Department of Immigration to step up its efforts to weed out illegal operators after the Age Newspaper revealed yesterday that an alleged sex racket had been uncovered targeting overseas students and others.

The allegations reported in a series of investigative articles by the Age, involving sex rackets and possible slavery, is deplorable behaviour and needs full investigation by the Federal police.

"Investigation and legal prosecution is the Department of Immigration's domain and migration professionals want to see that power used to vigorously pursue law breakers including any migration agents who are involved." "The Migration Institute is most concerned that the behaviour of a few scoundrels tarnishes the whole profession.

Those thousands of true Professional Registered agents who abide by the law and provide invaluable service to their clients are lumped in with "a few rotten apples in the barrel?" CEO Maurene Horder said.

"Whether these people are unregistered, agents?, or indeed registered agents, the profession wants them weeded out and the responsible Authorities to take immediate action".

"If any registered agent is reported to Government they should act immediately through the Office of the Migration Agents Registration Authority (MARA) to have any breach of the Code of Conduct appropriately sanctioned. Similarly, the Department of immigration and Citizenship is responsible for enforcing breaches of the Migration Act.

So, it really is vital that the Department step up and implement its authority more broadly to get rid of these rogue operators and criminals." If any member of the MIA is caught up in such behaviour they will be expelled by us.

About MIA - The Migration Institute of Australia is the professional association for Australian migration service providers worldwide. It represents over 2,000 registered migration agents who provide services to families, businesses and industries.
