

Belmore Sports Ground ready for take off

It's an exciting period for NSW Premier League outfit Sydney Olympic. The Blues are currently topping the league ladder sitting in first position but the other big news is that after months of waiting, their home ground Belmore Sports Ground is ready for use.

The quality pitch compiled with the re-development of the ground in regards to its facilities has been a welcome approach to Olympic who cannot wait to get the ball rolling starting this Wednesday in their Waratah Cup clash against Blacktown City FC before taking on the South Coast Wolves in round 12 of the competition this Sunday.

Football NSW officials, among them General Manager Ian Holmes and co as well as various football journalists involved with the NSW Premier League shared their thoughts and opinions on Sydney Olympic coming back to Belmore.

Ian Holmes

Football NSW General Manager

It is pleasing to see after protracted negotiations and renovation of the playing surface, Sydney Olympic return to Belmore Sports Ground as the venue for second round fixtures of the NSW Premier League. While this has been a frustrating time for the supporters of the club and the playing roster of the club, Sydney Olympic has the opportunity to capitalise on its unique position in having 11 home competition fixtures being conducted consecutively. It is a chance for the club to market itself to supporters and fans and for the team to deliver on its first round performances. There can be no excuses for failure given the favourable conditions which are in place inimitably for the run home to the Championship series. No other club in the history of state league football has been in such a strong positioning. Sydney Olympic fans are known for their passion and intolerance of failure. Now is the time for the club to deliver success on the field of play. It's what Sydney Olympic fans and supporters deserve.