

John Howard Visits All Saints Grammar

Students from Years 10, 11 and 12 from All Saints Grammar in Belmore were privileged to be addressed by former Prime Minister of Australia, the Right Honourable John Howard. As part of a series of Inspirational Talks organised by the School for their senior students, Mr Howard was not only inspirational but easily related to the All Saints Grammar students.

Growing up himself in nearby Earlwood and attending Earlwood Public School and later Canterbury Boys High school, Mr Howard clearly expressed fond memories of his childhood and school years, along with his continuing love for the St George Dragons. Mr Howard covered many topics relating to his time in the area, his political life and the characteristics that drove him to achieve and realise his outcomes.

Family, and the support and love from his family was always present throughout everything that he set his mind to, along with this he stated he operated according to his conscience and his values always directed him.

Following his talk, Mr Howard answered numerous questions from students. The talk took place in the recently completed Gymnasium at the Junior School campus in Belmore. The photos show Mr Howard addressing the students in the Gymnasium; the Principal, Mr Anthony Tsoutsas presenting Mr Howard an Icon of St George and a book written by His Eminence Archbishop Stylianos as a token of the school's thanks.
