

Key player match-ups

Alex Smith (Sydney Olympic)

A remarkable season for the American, English born, striker. Smith set the League on fire in the opening half of the season with eight goals prior to moving to A-League side Gold Coast United. With the striker's spell on the Gold Coast short-lived, Smith returned to help the Blues seal the Minor Premiership and secure a spot in the grand-final. With an extraordinary ability to score goals, the Reds defenders will have their work cut out following Smith on Monday.

Robbie Mileski (Sydney Olympic)

Playmaker and goal scorer, Mileski successfully brought his mazy runs from Bankstown City to the Blues this season. Confident on the ball with the ability to split a defence with a neat pass or a tricky step-over, Mileski will need to see much of the ball when the Blues push forward to hurt the Reds defence.

Brett Studman (Sydney Olympic)

One of the toughest defenders in the League, Studman's experience has been imperative to Sydney Olympic's success. A hard tackler with a strong physical presence and a deft touch on the ball, Studman has further strengthened his partnership with captain Richard Luksic across the backline.

Paul Henderson (Sydney Olympic)

The Blues defensive line is rock solid, and with an experienced campaigner like Paul Henderson between the sticks behind them, Luka Glavas & Co. will certainly need to be at their very best to breach the final line. 'Hendo' is a terrific shot-stopper with an ability not only to command his penalty-area, though also to transmit positive energy to the rest of the team.

Ivo Bosnar (Sydney United)

The midfielder's work rate is second to none, and when Ivo Bosnar is on his game, Sydney United function so much better. Bosnar's love for the club will have him eagerly awaiting the grand-final showdown, and after tasting victory in 2006, the captain will be hoping to lift the championship trophy after the referee's full-time whistle.
