ROAD TO RUSSIA - CALTEX SOCCEROOS QUALIFYING PATH

Australia finished the Final Stage of Asian Football Confederation (AFC) FIFA World Cup Qualifying in third place in Group B behind Japan and Saudi Arabia. As the third-placed team in Group B, Australia will now play a two-legged (home and away play-off series against Group A's third-placed side, Syria, for the opportunity to face the fourth-placed team from CONCACAF (Central and Northern America) in an Intercontinental Play-off (home and away) for a place in the 2018 FIFA World Cup.

The Hang Tuah Stadium will be the location for Tuesday's training, before the squad familiarises itself with Thursday night's match venue, the Hang Jebat Stadium, on Wednesday.

Ange Postecoglou's side will take on Syria at the Hang Jebat Stadium on Thursday 5 October 2017, before returning home to play Ayman Hakeem's team at Stadium Australia, Sydney on Tuesday 10 October 2017.

Should Australia successfully defeat Syria over two legs, the Caltex Socceroos will advance to the CONCACAF-Asian Zone Play-off (home and away) in November 2017 for a place at the 2018 FIFA World Cup.
