Sponsored by:

On behalf of Paul Nicolaou, Director of the Business Leaders Council, Australian Chamber of Commerce and Industry and Katia Gkikiza, the Trade Commissioner (Australia) Office for Economic and Commercial Affairs, Consulate General of Greece in Sydney, we would like to invite you to a video conference with Mr Georgios Filiopoulos, Chief Executive Officer, Enterprise Greece, Greece's national investment and trade promotion agency.

Greece is changing and it is changing fast. More important, it is on the verge of a significant growth path, as the economy becomes more extrovert/outward looking based on Foreign Direct Investment and Export Trade. Businesses around the world are in a position to benefit from an environment that welcomes new enterprises, fully supports investment, and promotes Greek products and services to a global marketplace. Enterprise Greece is designed to promote and support Greece's substantial investment opportunities and to engage the global business community with (first-class) high end export products—goods and services made in Greece.

Enterprise Greece's united effort allows them to effectively promote entrepreneurship in Greece, showcase trade opportunities to global buyers, and successfully lead to more holistic business partnerships.

Mr Filiopoulos will brief attendees at this session on how Greece is going economically, how it is managing COVID and how Greek Australian business leaders can consider investing in Greece.

Following his presentation, there will be an opportunity to ask Mr Filiopoulos a question in the Q&A session.
