

Miltos Sachtouris: The Fervent Poet

Thursday 29 July

A talk by Dr Anthony Dracopoulos

For the poet Miltos Sachtouris (1919-2005), the present state of the human condition is connected to humanity's distancing from sacredness, the forgetfulness of mortality and the absence of dreams. Heaven, dream and poetry are put forward as tools of measurement, indicating the distance of our current earthly existence from authentic being. Although this distance cannot be bridged, the poet's efforts are not pointless. By reminding us of the harshness, irrationality and inhumanity of everyday life, he calls us to return to that which has become distant and foreign.

Immortal: Exhibition of art by Herk Alexander

Sat 7 - Sat 21 August

Herk is a figurative artist, inspired by classical antiquity and Greek mythology. His large-scale graphite drawings explore the classical ideal of beauty, immortality, and the human form. His drawings have a serenity and a melancholic beauty that invites reflection, and draws the viewer closer to reveal a complexity of rhythm and meticulous detail. This unique body of work examines identity, the defining characteristics of the human condition and the connection to the divine, in a distinctive style that is undeniably his own.
